TICKET TO RIDE

It was a sad day in October when the last train left St. Louis' renowned Union Station. The 84-year-old station was once the grandest of them all and one of the busiest in the U.S.

At one time it catered to a daily sound of 400 trains including holiday travelers, commuters, and service men. Recently, however, the flow of trains has dwindled to a mere eight to ten a day, causing the station to close its doors to train passengers.

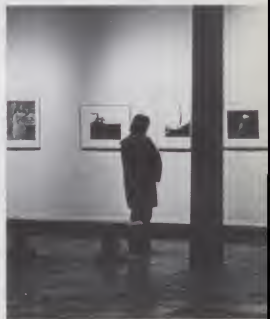

Nevertheless, tradition is continuing in St. Louis with the expanded interest in balloon racing. The rich ballooning heritage that is described in history pages comes to life in St. Louis at the Great Forest Park Balloon Race.

What began with some local balloonists inviting their friends to a rally in a park some six years ago has now grown to be the best attended ballooning event in the U.S.

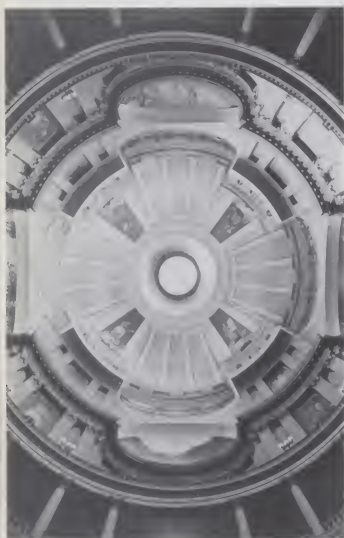

The Missouri Botanical Garden (Shaw's Garden) is also a tradition in St. Louis. This is one of the world's largest botanical gardens. The Climatron, a two-level geodesic dome greenhouse, has climate control which permits an unpartitioned variety of tropical and sub-tropical displays.

The garden was once the residence of Henry Shaw. He founded the garden over one hundred years ago.

FANCY COLORS

For students interested in art and art history, Granite South offers a series of art classes in which different levels of achievement may be attained. Some of the basics presented to art students are color theory, design concepts, composition and perspective, as well as dimensional work.

When students have mastered these skills, they may enroll in advanced art, where they will work on an oil painting and a copy of a master's artwork. In addition to these projects, they will do a ceramic sculpture of a human figure and do research in various medias of art.

After the projects are completed, superior work is kept by the art department for the spring shows. They are then returned to the students, who may keep or sell their work. Most students prefer to keep their work as a reminder of high school. Phyllis Weiss views art as an outlet for imaginative expression. "Art is not only rewarding as a profession, but many famous inventors, scientists, actors and leaders in other fields paint and enjoy art as an outlet during their lives. With the knowledge gained in our department, we feel students are ready to accomplish any area of art they wish to explore."

1. Phyllis Weiss gives a helpful suggestion to Gwen Simpson. 2. Frank Schwarzkopf relaxes after finishing his work. 3. Art 3 class complete their art projects. 4. Art work is displayed in windows by Art 5 class. 5. Vince Borvino looks on while Ann Rich grades his artwork

Despite the many aspects and interesting bits of trivia related to the social sciences, many students tend to find these courses somewhat dull. Perhaps this may be attributed to the facts—the many facts which constitute such courses as American history, civics, or world geography. Since much emphasis is placed on bookwork, some teachers try a different approach to break the monotony.

In order to keep his classes interesting, Mr. Barker presents information in different forms, rather than strictly from textbooks. "This way," he stated, "students are actually doing bookwork but they don't know it." Mr. Barker especially enjoys teaching civics because he feels that "students need to become more aware of their government since it will affect their future."

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

A new program available to students this year was Vocational Child Care II, or Preschool. After completing a semester of the two-hour class, the students received two full credits, the equivalent of two one-hour classes. However, there are prerequisites to enrolling in Preschool. The student must have had a semester of parenting and Vocational Child Care I.

The new course provides an opportunity for young adults to work with children in an informal, preschool type atmosphere. For those interested in an occupation which involves working with children, it is an excellent opportunity to acquire such experience. "The class has gone smoothly," said the program supervisor Cheryl Gertsch, "and all the kids—young and old—have learned from the experience." Because of the apparent success of the program, it will continue to be offered.

1. Child Care class converse with their little friends. 2. Cheryl Conaway and friend molds Play-Dough. 3. Small boy is thrilled with new slide in the Child Care room. 4. Sue Wrischnik helps child down the slide. 5. Children play at the corn table which is another new addition to the room.

HANDY MAN

Unknown to some individuals, Welding is composed of two divisions: Unit and Vocational. Unit Welding is offered during hours 3, 4, and 7, to both juniors and seniors for one semester. During this time, they are required to complete 12 to 14 welds. There are three types of welding that each student must learn: arc, oxy-acetylene, and brazing.

Vocational welding, which is available to both North and South seniors, lasts the entire year and is taught all hours. This group must learn all four form positions of welding which are flat, vertical, horizontal, and overhead. Also introduced are two new types of welding, T.I.G. and M.I.G. The seniors can also complete a special project for extra credit. Most students appreciate the opportunity to be given extra credit.

1. Mr. Brown grades welds. 2. Welding class works on project. 3. Mark Huelsman wears required safety mask while welding. 4. Scott Beasley shears metal. 5. Dale Whittenburg welds oxy-acetylene metal. 6. Tom Walsh concentrates on welding.

With only thirty-six weeks of school left, seniors began the year with confidence and anticipation. Among the first activities of their senior year was attending the meeting at which they selected the Homecoming Court. After a victorious Homecoming came an exciting soccer season which left South with its third State title.

As the Christmas season approached, South hosted its fourth annual Almost Anything Goes assembly in which the senior class officers and four volunteers participated. Upon returning from the Christmas vacation, seniors euphorically began their final semester of high school.

Roaming the campus, one might have been accosted by such characters as Mickey Mouse, Raggedy Ann, Groucho Marx, or even a cosmic Conehead.

At the end of the day, students assembled in the auditorium where their costumes were judged for their originality and elaborateness. Among the winning costumes were a gorilla, a witch, and Yogi Bear.

After completing Biology 1 and 2 as freshmen, many students continue studying biology in their senior year. Shannon Glasgow, who completed Biology 3 and 4, said, "I am interested in learning new things about plants and animals, and I enjoy biology. Sometimes the work becomes pretty challenging, but it's worth it." According to Mr. Pinnell, the students who continue in biology seem to most enjoy doing lab work. Labs performed in Biology 3 and 4 include studies in parasitology, bacteriology, and genetics.

Another aspect that attracts biology students is performing dissections; in advanced biology, students dissect a bullfrog and a shark. "I enjoyed dissecting in Biology 3," said Carla Francis, "because we studied the animals in more depth."

Advanced biology came highly recommended by one senior, who suggested that "anyone with an interest in science should take Biology 3 and 4."

As seniors reflect upon the past four years, they usually find that one year stands out in their memory. Eric Miller particularly remembers his freshman year because "everything was new and there were fresh experiences to be had." Janet Hartman's freshman year was special to her because she met lots of new people.

Mary Earney's junior year was her favorite because she was in the Stoolie Club with many outgoing and crazy seniors. "It was my best year," said Anita Fernandez, "because I had fun classes and terrific teachers."

But most students seem to enjoy their senior year the most. Tammy Ezell enjoyed "the anticipation of graduation and the fact that the year goes by fast." Brian Ropac's senior year meant more freedom and a better attitude toward involvement in school activities. Regardless of their personal preferences, all seniors recall a special year in high school.

High school is an important part of everyone's life, and it is not unusual to find that many students have been influenced by the various teachers with whom they've had contact throughout their high school years.

"They have helped me to realize how important education is and the need to study," said senior Liz Mullen. Tracey Bauer stated, "Mrs. Kratz proved to me that some teachers do care about their students and trust their judgement." Lisa Tripp was impressed by Mrs. Hormell because "she can communicate with her students and her classes are interesting."

Although teachers often don't realize it, they constantly serve as examples for students to emulate. Kathy Longos admires Mr. Barker "for his spunk and above all his respect and concern for everyone." Greg Daniels commented that Mr. Shatto "was very nice and treated me with consideration." Thus, if the student is willing, he may learn more from teachers than merely factual information.

RUSH HOUR

After surviving the various stages of high school life, it is not surprising that seniors have some complaints about one thing or another. The most common complaint among seniors this year was the change in the final exam policy which deprived them of their traditional four excused absences for job interviews and college visitations. Another cause for dissatisfaction was the parking lot situation. Students argued that the area was too small for them and was thus disorganized. Others suggested that more time should be allowed between classes. Crowded hallways were the object of Laura Sikora's disapproval.

Other complaints were expressed by Erich Miller and Walter Ronney, who felt that the band doesn't receive the recognition it deserves. Several others complained that teachers/student relationships could stand much improvement. "There's not enough teacher involvement," says Kit Walmsley.

However, despite the various reasons for complaint, one senior expressed this positive opinion about South—"It's one of the best high schools I know of. It offers athletic programs for male and female athletes; it has a terrific art, music, and speech program. It even provides a smoking area, which is something that few schools have."

Heavy eye-lids, incessant day-dreaming, and falling test scores are among the first indications that "senioritis" has struck again. Each year this dreaded disease strikes unwary seniors who fall prey to its alluring promise of leisure.

As seniors become infected with this disease, procrastination—its most infamous symptom—becomes a way of life. Reading books the night before a book review, cramming two-weeks-worth of notes into a ten-minute study period, and concocting believable excuses for missing homework become common occurrences. Term papers, assigned weeks in advance, remain untouched until days before the fast-approaching deadlines. Seniors spend endless hours doing last-minute research and making essential alterations before submitting their papers at last.

Once relieved of their term papers, seniors resume their leisurely ways. However, as May Day, the prom, and graduation roll around, the ill-effects of senioritis give way to eagerness and anticipation.

Having finally reached the top of the ladder, seniors can share the wisdom of their experience with underclassmen. Katie Becherer's advice to underclassmen is to "make these the best years of your life." "Don't give up—do the best you can, because it will all pay off if you try your hardest," said Suzy Neubauer.

Many seniors suggest to get involved in school activities and extra curricular events because it makes the four years go by faster. As Andy Rapoff commented, "enjoy it while you can." Other valuable advice was "don't eat the cafeteria's food; it'll stunt your growth." However, most seniors agree with the idea expressed by Donna Taylor: "get involved—this is a great school with so much to offer; don't pass it up!"

GO YOUR OWN WAY

Although graduation is generally considered one of the happiest times in one's life, it is also a somewhat sad event. Seniors suddenly realize that no longer will they be classified as "high school kids" but are now young adults, with new and numerous responsibilities and decisions confronting them. No longer is it a major decision whether to go to the basketball game or to the wrestling meet, but whether to go to this college or that university.

Graduation is a milestone in everyone's life; yet despite the elation many students feel upon receiving their diplomas, they soon find themselves missing certain aspects about high school. For instance, Walter Ronney knows he will miss the band. "Especially the drum section," he said, "because over the past four years they've grown to be my second family." Mary Earney will miss Mrs. Scroggins, the stage, and the plays. Having played for South since he was a freshman, it is not surprising that Fred Schuler will particularly miss soccer. Kim Johnson, feature editor for the school paper, will miss the High World.

As graduation draws nearer and nearer, many seniors begin to realize exactly how much they have benefited from school. As one senior commented, "I'm really going to miss South for a long time; this school has given me many new friends and a future worth awaiting. I'm very grateful."

REMINISCING

With four years of high school to look back upon, seniors find they have innumerable experiences, pleasant and unpleasant, to reminisce about.

Suzy Neubauer remembers cheering in her junior year at the Homecoming game when it was pouring down rain, and everybody was soaked. Winning the State Soccer Tournament three years in a row is the highlight of Steve Spencer's high school years.

Katie Becherer painfully recalls tripping over a speed bump in North's parking lot and breaking her arm. Being a part of the play "Godspell" is one of Ron Ward's most memorable experiences. Debbie Taylor fondly remembers switching classes with her twin sister and getting away with it. Reminiscing about high school experiences is something seniors undoubtedly will look forward to.

A contributing factor to the overall success of the Granite South Warriors is the student body's school spirit. Sports fans express their enthusiasm by selling buttons and gimmicks, attending pep rallies, and cheering the teams to victory. Indispensable to the morale of the team is the support of avid fans. The athletes appreciate their enthusiastic support because "such aid is essential for the winning tradition at South," said Jack Burnett.

Knowing that a large crowd is rooting the team on is another incentive for success. "When there's a big crowd, we play harder because we don't want to let them down," commented Bob Stegemeier. The cheerleaders and band are also instrumental in urging the athletes to victory, as Andy Costillo stated, "the fans get me psyched up for the game, along with the cheers and accompaniment of the band."

Many students choose to give up their hour study to work in the audio-visual center. David Powderly, second hour worker, is one of the students who does not need the hour for study.

David has always enjoyed working with A-V equipment and this gives him the chance to "really get to know how the movie and slide projectors work."

It also gives him the opportunity to meet teachers when he delivers the equipment to their room. "Basically," he says, "I like helping my teachers."

"Students seem to appreciate a well-kept room," comments Wilma Hodshire. Mrs. Hodshire, who teaches typing and shorthand, finds her work much easier if she and her students have a neat room.

"The room should be as neat when the students leave as it is when they enter," she says. "It only takes a few seconds to look over the room before leaving."

Mrs. Hodshire says that she used to be a "floating teacher" and did not have a room of her own. "It is such a pleasure to be located in one room with all new equipment," she says.

"The new typing rooms were built as a result of the auditorium fire. The fire completely gutted the middle section upstairs," she says. After that Mrs. Hodshire "vowed to keep everything nice and neat."

THIS ONE'S FOR YOU

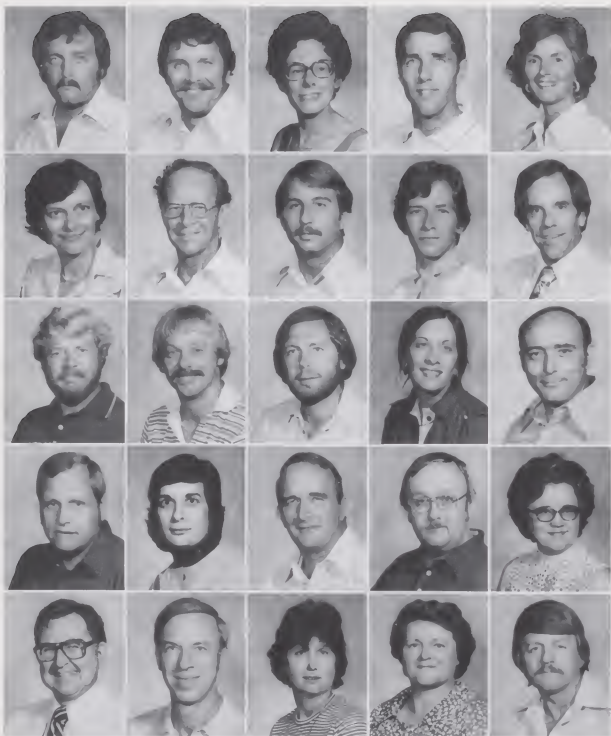

Students are not the only fans who attend South's sports events; many teachers also enjoy watching South's athletes perform.

Gregory Patton, who attends games regularly, has a special interest in sports because he participated in many events while attending high school.

Allen Kennerly empathizes with the athletes. In his high school days, he was a cross country runner and knows the effort involved.

Ann Rich attends sports events because she "likes to see a winner." Also, knowing that they have support from teachers as well as students, gives athletes a further incentive to win.

MY LIFE

Having taught at South for 25 years, Albert Zebio has witnessed changes in the curriculum. He has also observed significant changes in the life style of students.

"There are more students driving, holding jobs, and unfortunately an increasing number of students who expect to pass with little or no effort on their part," he says.

Through his vast education and travels, he shares countless hours of knowledge with his students. His degrees include a B.S. and an M.A.; and he has enjoyed travels in Mexico, Europe, and the Caribbean.

A lasting impression students share regarding this rare individual is that "he is fair" in his classroom. He is also a pretty fair guy outside his room, too.

1. Mr. Albert Zebio casually chaperones a dance sponsored by the Photo. Club and the yearbook. "I did not think I would ever agree to chaperone such a school event," he says. But he did, and he did a good job also. 2. Mr. Zebio's classroom. 3. & 4. He always keeps a clean office.

NOBODY DOES IT BETTER

This year the Illinois State Champions faced the season in a different fashion. Unlike the previous year, the Warriors were counted out of post season play even before the season play began. But like the team of last season, South triumphed and proved the critics wrong.

Capping off the season with the state title, the kickers achieved a 25-4-2 record. After two easy victories, a forfeit by Waterloo and a 5-0 whitewashing of Springfield Southeast, South suffered its first loss to the Missouri Co-state champion. Bishop DuBorg, 5-3. Then with five goals from David Fernandez, the Warriors defeated Assumption 13-1 and began a string of thirteen victories. The second and third wins were earned on a trip to Chicago. There the Warriors triumphed over Deerfield 3-0 and the following day were victorious against New Trier East 3-1.

The next three games belonged to Fred Schuler. Schuler scored five goals in the 10-1 victory over Edwardsville and then scored two goals as South trounced Alton. In the next game, Schuler scored a hat-trick while the kickers shutout Belleville West 3-0.

After easy victories over Waterloo Gibault, 8-0, and Belleville East, 4-0, the Warriors played host to a tough McCluer North team from St. Louis. After the visitors took an early 1-0 lead, Frank Schwarzkopf drilled in the tying goal in the third quarter. Minutes later, David Fernandez scored on a foul kick, but the lead was short lived. McCluer North scored twice and possessed the lead again. Then in the fourth quarter, Frank Schwarzkopf scored his second goal. Five minutes later David Mendoza added the winning goal, making the score 4-3.

South coasted through the next two games with scores of 7-0 and 8-0 against Lebanon and Jacksonville, respectively. The Warriors then defeated St. Louis U. High.

Midway through the second quarter, a SLUH player scored against his own team in an attempt to pass the ball back to the goalkeeper. Then minutes before the half, Dan Long scored after Fred Schuler's shot caromed off both goalposts. SLUH dominated the second half, but Andy Costillo's tremendous performance limited the opposition to one goal, and the kickers were 2-1 victors.

The next game matched South against an aggressive Cahokia squad. Although the Warriors played below par, they defeated Cahokia 5-3 with the help of three goals from David Fernandez.

South received their greatest disappointment of the season when Granite North defeated them. The Warriors outshot the Steelers 13 to 3, but North was 2-0 victors. It was the first loss to an Illinois team since 1974 and the first defeat at home since the 1975 season.

Then Rosary edged the Warriors 3-2, and another St. Louis team, Hazelwood East tied South 3-3.

Against Hazelwood East, the kickers controlled the play and led 3-0 at halftime. The Warriors, however, could not answer three fourth quarter goals in the pouring rain.

South reestablished their winning ways by beating Quincy Senior 2-1 and Collinsville 4-2. Trailing Collinsville 2-0, Fred Schuler led the comeback with three goals while Frank Schwarzkopf added the fourth goal.

The following game saw South totally dominate play, but the score read 1-1 after four quarters and two overtimes of play. Waterloo Gibault gained the tie; and the Warriors ended the regular season by defeating St. Paul 5-2. With this final victory, they compiled a 18-3-2 record.

With a 14-1-1 record, the junior varsity team were champions in their own right. Two outstanding wins included Granite North and Collinsville. Tim Dix started the scoring, and after Kelly Mann's goal, ended the scoring completing a 3-0 victory. The Warriors ruined Collinsville's chances of an undefeated season. On a goal by Tim Dix, South shutout the Kahoks 1-0.

Leading scorer, Tim Dix and captain David James were named most valuable players for this season. James along with Don Cook, Jim Brewer, and Greg White were instrumental in the fourteen victories by composing eleven shutouts. Once again, Coach Mel Bunting assembled a winning team.

THE SOUTH'S GONNA DO IT AGAIN

Although seeded number one by points, South was thought to be toppled by Granite North, Belleville West, and Quincy Notre Dame in the sectional tournament.

In the first game, the Warriors were defeated by the dark horse, Belleville West, 2-1. David Fernandez scored the lone goal on a foul kick.

The second game featured South matched against the crosstown rival, North. Out to revenge an earlier loss, the kickers put an early shot passed the goalie in the first quarter. John Prazma dribbled through the Steeler defense, passed the ball to an unguarded Fred Schuler, who nudged it in for a 1-0 lead.

When North tied the score, capitalizing on a foul kick, in the third quarter, South was not to be outdone. On Fred Schuler's second goal in the same quarter, the Warriors took the lead 2-1. David Fernandez received the assist. The scoreboard read 2-1 when time expired, and the kickers went into the third and last game needing a victory over Quincy Notre Dame.

In an evenly played contest, South proved to be the better team in the third quarter. After two quarters of scoreless play, Fred Schuler scored on a deflection of Dan DeRousse's shot. Thanks to a staunch defense, the Warriors held onto the one goal lead. In winning the fourth straight sectional tournament, South looked forward to the state tournament held at Bloomington-Normal.

The first task in defending the state title for the second consecutive year was defeating Deerfield, whom the Warriors had previously beaten 3-0 in regular season play.

Breaking somewhat of a tradition, South played well in the quarterfinal game and had two goals called back before taking the lead. With 3:57 remaining in the second quarter, the kickers were awarded a penalty kick when a Deerfield player played the ball with his hands in an attempt to stop a shot. Jack Burnett scored on the kick, making it 1-0. Continuing to dominate play for the remainder of the game, South was unable to increase the lead, and the Warriors recorded the shutout. The next opponent would be Brother Rice.

In the early Saturday morning game, South began slowly and their passes failed. While the offense failed to generate any scoring opportunities, the defense held steadfast. Then in the third quarter, John Prazma rocketed a shot passed a diving goal keeper, achieving a 1-0 advantage. Phil Beljanski received the assist on the play. Again the narrow margin in goals sufficed, and the state champions had earned the chance to defend the title.

To the dismay of the thirteen hundred Warrior fans, the rains came at the start of the final game which pitted South against an aggressive Evanston team. Although the shower didn't last long, the gloomy weather served as an omen for the Wildkits of Evanston as the Warriors displayed their worthiness of being in the state finals with several dazzling passes and scoring opportunities.

In the first quarter, John Prazma made it 1-0, scoring his second goal of the tournament and what turned out to be the decisive goal of the contest on a direct foul kick from twenty yards.

While the Warriors held the territorial advantage, the Wildkits created a few offensive attacks of their own. The defense, however, allowed two shots, neither of which Andy Costillo had to save, rose to the occasion in preservation of the shutout. While the defense shined, the offense directed fifteen shots on goal.

Late in the fourth quarter, Frank Schwarzkopf scored an insurance goal from twenty feet on a crossed ball from John Prazma. It was then only a matter of the clock running out. For an unprecedented third time, the Granite City South Warriors were crowned Illinois Soccer State Champions.

BAKER STREET

Appearing in a record five appearances at the state tournament, the Warriors have compiled a 10-2 record, scoring a total of 23 goals and allowing five goals.

This year, the kickers set or tied a myriad of state tournament records. The most distinguished mark broken was the achievement of a third state title. Also, Andy Costillo wasn't called upon to make any saves in the semifinal and title match, and the three opponents combined for a total of only 21 shots. South tied the state record of most shutouts of the tournament due to paramount performances of the defense.

Records are broken only by exceptional play, and the 1978 state champions line-up featured several talented players. Attaining berths on the All-State Team were the dazzling sophomore, David Fernandez and the profuse, leading scorer, Fred Schuler.

In addition to Schuler, Dan DeRousse and Jack Burnett were selected on the All-State Tournament Team. South also placed the most players, John Prazma, Fred Schuler, Jack Burnett, and David Fernandez, on the All-Metro East All-Star Team, with senior captain, Steve Spencer and Dan DeRousse, Andy Costillo, and Randy DeRousse gaining honorable mention. The pride of the team, the defense, consisted of John Brusatti, Dan DeRousse, John Prazma, Jack Burnett, and Randy DeRousse.

The resources, however, of even the most talented players do not satisfy the requirements of a winning team. An essential ingredient to success is the coach. The Warrior soccer fans can feel confident of success as long as South's soccer program includes Gene Baker. Accumulating a 199-34-12 career coaching record, Coach Baker has led the Warriors to a third-place finish and three first-place titles at the state tournament within a six year span. Mr. Baker owns the entire list of tournament coaching records, but more important is his philosophical approach to people and the sport. These concepts intertwine and unfold during a soccer season, thus enabling his players to become better men while their athletic capabilities blossom.

In the annual North-South game, we were considered to be the favorite. On North's first drive after the kick-off, the South defense shut them down on their own 33 yard line.

The second play from scrimmage was a hand-off from Jeff Parker to Pat Hogan who cut outside and went 67 yards for South's first touchdown. Bob Stegemeier's extra point made it 7-0.

The Steelers then advanced the ball into Warrior territory, but once again the GRANITE ROCK rolled them over. With the Steelers on our 19 yard line, Rich Dimock sacked the quarterback and ended the scoring threat.

South had another chance to score when the Steelers quick-kick went only 3 yards, but South fumbled and North recovered. At the half the score was 7-0 South.

After the opening kick-off to start the second half, the Warriors romped down to the North 23 yard line where a holding penalty was called. Bob Stegemeier came in again to kick a 42 yard field goal a new school record, and South was winning 10-0

The defense then threw North for a loss when a pitchout was blocked and Kevin Green came up with the ball on the North 15 yard line.

Dave Mahaffey ran for a first down, then Scott Polson charged for the touchdown.

After another Steeler punt to the 32, Pat Hogan ran to the 16. A personal foul penalty brought the ball to the 8 where Hogan again ran for another touchdown. The extra point by Bob Stegemeier made the score 23-0 going into the fourth quarter.

In the final quarter South started their drive from the 49. South advanced the ball to the 24 where on third and seven, Jeff Parker hit Lee Heubner for the final touchdown. Dave Mahaffey ran the ball across the line for the two point conversion and South won with the substantial lead of 31-0. Once again Granite South had regained the title, "THE GRANITE ROCK."

The Warriors accumulated 128 total points on offense but gave up 168 points throughout the season. Even with these statistics they had a 5-4 winning season.

The Warriors first game was a defeat to the Jefferson City Jaybirds, two-time Missouri state champions.

On the opening kickoff, a Jaybird ran 91 yards for the game's first touchdown. Within 13 seconds the score was 7-0. Towards the end of the first quarter, the Jaybirds drove 70 yards topped by a 55-yard run for touchdown. At the end of the first half the score was 20-0.

In the second half, on the Jays' first possession, they went 45 yards for another touchdown. Intercepting another Warrior pass, the Jays scored again. The Jays went on to score four more touchdowns for a final score of 64-0. The Warriors were stunned by the Jays' repeating attacks. However, this defeat did not deter the Warriors.

After the opening season loss, the Warriors clashed with the O'Fallon Panthers; South outrushed the Panthers by 164 yards.

Thirteen plays after the kickoff, Jeff Parker threw a 28-yard touchdown pass to Lee Heubner. The extra point by Bob Stegemeier made the score 7-0.

The score stayed unchanged until the fourth quarter when Scott Polson ran from the 3-yard line for another South touchdown. On the 16-yard line, Mike Thomas intercepted a Panther pass, setting up a run by Polson into the end zone. The extra point attempt missed for a score of 13-0.

Later, Dave Mahaffey intercepted another pass, and on the same series of downs, Jeff Parker, finding no receivers, scrambled for the touchdown making the final score 20-0.

In the third game of the season, the Warriors lost to a tough Belleville East team. On their first possession, the Warriors found themselves on the East 1-yard line. After this drive, Mike Kramer went over the top for six points. Blake Ambuehl hit Lee Heubner for a two-point conversion. In the closing seconds, the Lancers crossed the goal line for a total score of 28-8.

Homecoming weekend was exciting, but the Warriors suffered a disappointing defeat to the Cahokia Commanchiees. On Cahokia's first possession, the Warriors defense sacked their quarterback twice for a loss of 19 yards.

The action came in the second quarter when Cahokia threw a 43-yard pass for the score of 7-0. The Warriors tried many times; the closest at the end of the game.

With 18 seconds left, Jeff Parker hit Jeff Bergbrader with a screen pass. He juggled it in the air, a Commanchie snatched it and went running deep into Warrior territory to secure the win. The final score was 7-0.

At the Edwardsville Tiger game the Warriors used the Dallas Cowboys' shotgun offense, but fell short in a 26-7 defeat.

On the Tigers first possession, they drove 53 yards for 7 points. Until halftime the Warrior defense held.

Opening the second half, the Tigers moved to the 36 and punted. On the next series of downs, a 71-yard drive by the Warriors was kept alive at midfield by a pass interference call. Then moving to the Tigers six, a late hit penalty placed the ball on the third-yard line where Scott Polson scored two plays later. The extra point made the score 13-0.

The Tigers rebounded and scored again, but the two-point conversion failed. Later the Tigers intercepted a Warrior pass and ran it back 57 yards for final game score of 26-7.

In the Collinsville game, opening runs by Pat Hogan and Dave Mahaffey advanced the ball to the 22-yard line. The field goal attempt went wide.

The Kahoks gained control, but after two penalties, were forced to punt.

Mike DeGonia returned the ball to midfield. Pat Hogan ran the first play outside and downfield for the touchdown.

The Kahoks bounced back on their next possession. After three passes and one interference call, the quarter back ran into the end zone for 7 points. The Warrior winning touchdown drive came late, concluding with the last seven crucial plays. Of these seven, four were handoffs for a final score of 14-7 Warriors.

The Alton game was very peculiar in that the score was only 2-0. The score came from a snap from center for a punt. The ball went over the kicker's head who was standing in the end zone. This safety came with 3:09 left in the fourth quarter.

The final game of the season was against the Madison Trojans in Madison.

In the first quarter, the scoring started at 8:18 on a 35-yard field goal by Bob Stegemeier. Minutes later on another Warrior possession, Dave Mahaffey rushed 31 yards for a Warrior touchdown, making the score 10-0.

After a partially blocked Madison punt, the Warriors marched down field, where Dave Mahaffey scored his second touchdown of the game.

A 9 yard run by Jeff Parker and a 45-yard sprint by Mike Kramer gave South an enormous half-time lead.

In the second half of the ballgame, a Trojan fumble and blocked punt gave the Warriors two more touchdowns. The game went on to climax the Warriors season with a final game score of 66-34.

This was the Warriors first winning season in a couple of years, and Coach Stan Wojcik forseees a even better season next year.

The Warrior Cross Country team started off the season strong, fell into a mid-season slump and then snapped back to have an exceptionally good season. They captured fifth place in Districts and twelfth place in Sectionals. Senior Dave Taylor and Junior Dave Houston set the example for the season.

Taylor achieved a first in his flight at the Belleville West Invitational, a third at the Waterloo Invitational, a second at the Alton Invitational, and placed second in the District.

As for Houston, placing second at the Waterloo Invitational, first at the Alton Invitational, placing first in the District, fourth in the Sectional were highlights of his season.

Dave Houston went on to represent South at the State competition in Peoria and placed fifty-fourth out of two hundred and thirty runners.

Taylor and Houston were also chosen on the All-Metro East Cross Country Team.

Although the Field Hockey team did not have an exceptionally good winning season, the girls gained valuable experience, particularly having played the State Championship Edwardsville team.

This year, also, the Stickateers played more Missouri teams than ever in the past. The main reason for this was that many schools in Illinois discontinued the exciting game of field hockey.

This year the team consisted of four freshmen, six sophomores, and three juniors. And, of course, no team would be complete without the eight competing seniors.

Eleven of these female athletes received awards at the annual Awards Banquet for Fall Sports. Also two trophies were presented to Laura Werths and Becky Corzilius for their exceptional work as captains and their skill and sportsmanship.

Also at the banquet, Dorothy Mitchell, coach, was honored by the hockey team and was presented a crystal candy dish.

Anita Milton, halfback, summed up the season by commenting, "We had a good time."

The 1978 Warrior tennis team coached by Patricia Yates, finished the season with an outstanding win-loss record. Although the team was relatively young, their ability was that of experienced players.

This year the team sent four girls to state, three of them being underclassmen. The players who competed in the state tournament were Christy Bauer, Laura Gabriel, Susan Bell, and Susan Squires. Christy Bauer and Laura Gabriel placed eighth in doubles out of 128 teams.

"The girls put in long and hard hours by practicing every night after school," stated Laura Gabriel. "As one can see, the results turned out well."

Miss Yates not only coordinated the tennis team but added much spirit and support. Some of the girls were given nicknames such as "bomber" and "legend."

The girls look forward to the next season and expect to do equally as well as this season or better.

The 1978 girls volleyball team ended the season with a record of six wins and twelve losses. Coach Wilma Schulze contributed the losing record to the fact that "absolute unity of a team is a must in volleyball. This year the team did not quite have that together."

"However, their attitude toward the game was excellent. The girls love the sport and are very dedicated to it," she said.

The following players met the requirement to receive a varsity letter: captain, Elita Cionko, Gwen Simpson, Terri Meagher, Kathy Hadley, Susan Jeffries, Karen Macios, and Chris Boyd. The requirement was participating in one third of the games.

The Junior Varsity team consisted of three sophomores and six freshmen. The co-captains were sophomores Nita Graham and Karen Spencer. The Junior Varsity season ended with five wins and nine losses. Everyone hopes that the 1979 volleyball season will be one to surpass all others.

The girls Basketball team, coached by Pat Yates and James DeMoulin, lost their opening game to Mascoutah by a score of 66-40. However, the team was quick to bounce back to win the next two games by defeating Collinsville 62-54 and Dupu 62-10.

"Excellent shooting and top conditioning were two of the team's stronger points, while a lack of height and rebounding were the weak points," Pat Yates stated.

Starting on the varsity level were Chris Boyd, Laura Gabriel, Susan Bell, Nita Graham, and Susan Jeffries. Junior varsity members were Kathy Sikora, Natalie Buster, Kim Watson, Terri Schuler, Betty Bulva, Rachel Newsome, and Kathy Feigl. Janet Scannel was the team manager and Karen Spencer kept the team's statistics.

We have only one senior, so next year we'll be tougher," said Laura Gabriel. Chris Boyd, captain, summed it all up by saying, "I feel we have much experience since last season and should have a good season next year."

STRAIGHT DOWN THE MIDDLE

Straight down the middle is how every bowler on the team would like to see her bowling ball go. Unfortunately this does not always happen every game.

However, through the leadership of Ruth Noeth, their experienced coach, many of the girls are beginning to bowl some high games.

Sherrie DePew rolled a 201, and Rhonda Reish a 192. The high average for the season was Sherrie DePew with a 146.

This year the district tournament was held in O'Fallon. South took fifth place with a total of 3966.

CATS IN THE CRADLE

The 1978-79 Warrior wrestlers comprised a record of 21-1-0, and captured first place in the Holiday, Hazelwood Central Quad, Granite City South Quad, 22nd Annual IHSA District, and the Sectional wrestling tournaments.

In the first three meets, the Warriors swept up Edwardsville, Bloomington, and Alton, giving up only 21 team points. Nine pins were accumulated in these first three meets. Chris Cotrell and Rich Dimock came up with four of these pins.

East St. Louis, Springfield, Springfield South East, and Normandy were the next victims to fall to the fighting Warriors. The fastest fall of the season came from Rocky Lupardus in the first period of his match against a Normandy wrestler. Within the first 18 seconds, Lupardus received a takedown, and then pinned his man for a victory.

With South on its way to a winning season, Parkway North, Belleville East, Richwood and Pekin were next to be stunned by these Warrior grapplers. Within these four meets, Barry Forshee totalled 69 individual points and one pin.

The first and only defeat of the season came against Belleville West Maroons with a score of 25-26. From here on, the Warriors dominated the rest of the season, winning their last 11 meets.

Civic Memorial, Hazelwood Central, Roxana, and Lindberg proved to be no match as the grapplers held these teams to a total of 42 points, while the Warriors gained 181 total points in this quad meet.

Ten falls were won by Warrior matmen in the meets against Cahokia, Columbia Hickman, and Quincy. Five of these victories were captured in less than two minutes, with one by Rick Presswood in 32 seconds.

Towards the end of the season, the Warriors won 14 matches by a fall in the meets against McCluer North, and Wood River. The Wood River match was an outstanding match for the Warriors, for they did not give up one team point.

The final match of the season was against our crosstown rivals, Granite City North. The Warriors finished their season on a high note, defeating the Steelers at this meet were Mark Siebert with a pin in 1:59, and Sam Perkins with a match score of 13-2. This set the pace for the Warrior team victories in Districts and Sectionals.

All of these wrestlers advanced to the finals, where Barry Forshee, Sam and Dean Perkins placed first in each of their weight divisions. A second place medal was awarded to Scott Polson and a fourth place to Drue Clement.

IT'S ALL IN THE GAME

The Warrior cagers completed the best season in the last ten years by compiling a 14-5 record this year.

Competing in the pre-season tournament held at Bridgeport, the Warriors started the year by winning all three games. The co-captains, Jeff Parker and Jeff Tretter, led the scoring for the team.

South then played Belleville West in the first home game of the season. Against the much taller West team, the Cagers were outscored 52-63.

Traveling on the road, South lost the next three games to Wood River, 45-59, Belleville East, 56-71, and Quincy Notre Dame, 55-61. The Warriors then bounced back by winning the Wood river Tournament.

In the first game of the Christmas tournament, the cagers defeated Lovejoy 65-50. Jeff Parker led the team with 18 points. In the semifinal game against Roxana, James Blasingame scored 23 points and pulled down 11 rebounds, leading the team to a 74-54 victory.

In the championship game, South won a close one against Decatur Lakeview 82-79. Jeff Parker led the scoring with 22 points, followed by Blasingame with 18. Blasingame was nominated to the All-Tournament Team.

The cagers then defeated the next three teams based on a strong team defensive effort. The victims were Triad, Cahokia, and Roxana.

South continued its winning ways by shellacking Granite North 52-44, in the annual North-South duel. Blasingame led all scorers with 16 points, with Bill Skinner pumping in 9. Lee Heubner and Jeff Parker collected eight rebounds each. The Warriors also shined on defense by allowing under 50 points per game for the fifth time in the season.

The next night the cagers travelled to Collinsville. South started slowly, shooting 18% in the first quarter, but rallied late in the game only to fall short 58-62. Blasingame led the team with 16 points and eight rebounds.

In the next contest against Alton, the Warriors played perhaps the best game of the season. South dominated from the opening tipoff and whipped the opponents 81-56. Again Blasingame led with twenty points, followed by Heubner with 16. The point man on offense, Jeff Vaughn, dished out seven assists in his best game of the season.

The basketball Warriors then defeated Jerseyville, Belleville Althoff, and Mascoutah.

Then in an attempt to avenge an earlier loss to Belleville East, the Warriors led at halftime by several points. In the second half, however, the cagers fell prey to a full court press and lost 55-59.

Due to an early publication date, yearbook cannot cover the last four games of the season. They are against Madison, Edwardsville, Bethalto, and Cahokia. At publication time the Warriors were well on their way to an impressive, successful season.

Stage Door, a competitive play which portrayed the struggle that beginning young actresses encounter, highlighted the Homecoming activities.

The play had devoted students in it which took a good percentage of their time. "Plays take much time and hard work. As far as concentration, that's the key word when the night of the play rolls around," said Laurie Ferrere. Laurie played one of the major parts in the play.

Every member of the cast had to put much effort into the play. This included many nights of practice, memorizing their lines, getting costumes, make-up applications, and the actual performance. Finally they see results in their efforts by the response of the audience. "This makes you feel like all the time involved was more than worth it," commented Laurie.

LEADER OF THE PACK

This year, as well as in the past, Student Council has kept its reputation as being one of the most active organizations in the school.

"Getting the final exam policy changed was one big accomplishment for the Council this year," says John Brooks, sponsor. "A student-teacher committee battled to change the policy and finally came up with a resolution."

Student Council also has a steering committee that meets with Mr. James Dumont bi-monthly to discuss problems concerning students and their school.

Other projects include the annual blood drive, Christmas baskets for the needy families in the community, the Prom, May Day, the Homecoming parade and the ordering of flowers for various occasions.

"To sum it all up," says Mr. Brooks, "the main purpose of Student Council is to improve the school for the students."

The HIGH WORLD staff keeps the students informed of sports and other various school activities. There are eight members on the staff who write stories, take pictures and draw layouts.

To get information for stories, the staff covers their assigned area or "beats" which consist of clubs and departments.

In addition, Concert News, gives reports of upcoming concerts and also has a concert schedule.

Jean Jackson, editor, supervises the work along with the sponsor, Mary Johnson. "We might go into a magazine format later on, one that goes more in depth in features," said Mary Johnson.

KODACHROME

The PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB is comprised of a group of students interested in learning how to see—not just look at—the world around them.

They learn facts about the camera and darkroom procedures. After mastering these skills, they are able to change their thoughts into visual images. They also learn to keep an eye out for the “different,” the graphic, and the subtle situation and look at them in an extraordinary way.

Members of the club also photograph some of the sporting events for the yearbook. Club officers are Doug Irvin, president; Brian Ballard, vice-president; Cindy Barker, secretary and treasurer. Club sponsor is DeeMana Spudich.

The 1978 SCIENCE CLUB has a total of 34 members and is sponsored by James DeMoulin. This year's activities include bake sales, cricket noise makers, and Halloween insurance. The club also cleaned trash from roads in Granite City and the nearby countryside.

Officers are Laura Ohenesian, president; Marsha Curtis, vice-president; Laura Ferrere, secretary; and Lisa Perjak, treasurer.

IMMIGRATION MAN

THE FOREIGNERS is a newly formed club. It was formerly called the Spanish Club. Members include students from Spanish, Latin, French, and German classes.

Each language is represented in the election of officers. Throughout the year the club sells candy and has planned a field trip and an International Night in the spring.

John Sellemeyer is the club sponsor. The officers include Tracey Boker, president; Dave Hunnicutt, vice-president; Deidra Schroeder, secretary; Armand Kachigian, treasurer.

FAREWELL TO KINGS

The CHESS CLUB began its year with a new sponsor, Frank Babka. With a score of experienced players, some returning from last year, the chess team was in good shape for the season.

In order to play chess many rules and strategies must be known. It takes hours of practice and concentration to master these skills. South's chess team is a member of the Southern Illinois High School League.

Typically, chess matches are quiet affairs with the students intensely concentrating on the game. They display a great amount of determination and enthusiasm at the matches. "Chess is a worthwhile activity for students because it forces them to employ strategy while playing their opponents," comments Frank Babka.

The SOCIAL STUDIES CLUB is comprised of a group of students interested in travel and the world around them.

The members attend meetings at least once a month and are entertained by guest speakers discussing travel experiences and politics. The club always organizes a trip during the spring Easter vacation. In order to be eligible for the trip, members must sell a certain amount of candy, magazines, grapefruit and oranges. They must also sponsor bake sales and rummage sales.

All proceeds are given to the club.

Trips in the past years have been taken to Washington D.C., Florida, New Orleans, and a Caribbean cruise to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The sponsor of the club, Philip Shatto, says, "The club gives the ambitious student an opportunity to earn a trip of a lifetime."

Officers are Carla Francis, president; Rocky Lupardus, vice-president; Dawn Ray, secretary; and Shannon Glasgow, treasurer.

Expanded creativity is the goal of the ART CLUB members. David Culp, sponsor of the club for the past three years, says "participation in the club's activities gives the creative student an opportunity to service the school."

The Art Club has always tried to be a part of this school. It is active in both spirit and activities.

Each year the club enters the Homecoming parade. This year, as for the past four years, the club has been awarded first place for their unique parade float.

"The members are proud they won first place again and it gives them a good feeling of accomplishment," said David Culp.

One of the major projects in which the club involves itself is the decorations for the May Day. "It takes several weeks to plan, design, and execute the decor," says David Culp. "They did a good job again this year and I am sure they will do as well or better next year."

One of the club's major activities is the initiation of its new members, which includes a candle ceremony. The eight candles used symbolize Truth, Learning, Leadership, Loyalty, Initiative, Integrity, Judgement, and Friendship.

The officers of the club are Becky Corzilius, president; Kim Johnson, secretary/treasurer. Members include Sandy Forte, Gina Gibson, Anita Busch, Jean Jackson, and Doug Irvin.

New members being initiated are Elaine Kayich, Teresa Camren, Scott Buenger, Jack Burnett, Kim Dittrich, and Kathy Sikora.

National Honor Society, sponsored by the National Association of Secondary principals, is an organization which recognizes outstanding students. Membership is based on four qualifications: scholarship, leadership, service, character.

To be eligible to petition for membership at South, a student must have a 4.2 or higher cumulative average and be either a junior or senior. A faculty committee serves as selection board.

The South Chapter annually selects two seniors to become finalists for a scholarship award. The Association of Secondary Principals grants 2500 and 1000 dollar awards to member of chapters throughout the United States.

South's chapter operates a paperback book store. It is located in room 227. The store sells books at discount prices each morning before school.

The organization, which meets the third Monday of each month, also is involved in other activities such as tutoring students. It also sponsors Touchstone, South's literary magazine, and honors graduating seniors with an annual spring picnic.

NIGHTS ON BROADWAY

Through out the year members of the Speech and Theatre Club actively participate in a variety of school events.

Members are involved in selecting the homecoming theme, choosing the items to be sold, participating in all homecoming activities, arranging follies, judging follies, and selecting the field trips.

The main people involved in getting priorities in order are the council representatives: Kit Walsmley, President; John Manoogian, Vice-President; Susan Range, Secretary; and Charlene Bennington as Treasurer.

The club consists of over fifty people who are drawn from all area's of the communications department. Work projects assist the acting, debate, stagecraft, and individual events classes.

Special requirements, such as being a member of either the National Forensics League or the International Thespians are necessary for admittance to the club.

The purpose of the club is to further the knowledge of those involved in communications and enrich their knowledge in the art of communicating.

STAGECRAFT, a course taught by Beverley Scroggins, deals with the production of the plays and the construction of the scenery involved in the plays.

To become a part of the stagecraft crew, a student must pass Oral Communications and Beginning Stagecraft. Then he may advance to "working behind the scenes," says Mrs. Scroggins.

The Stagecraft students get the feeling of being a part of the theatre because they are always working with the performers and scenery.

Operating the production includes such jobs as sound system, lighting, props, and changing the scenery when necessary. "I am glad I have good students willing to spend the time and effort to help make everything perfect," says Miss Scroggins.

It was the good time and effort put forward by the Stagecraft students that helped the plays get a real feeling of the theatre. Without their artistic ability, the plays and other performances in the auditorium would not be the same.

Competitive . . . Enlightening . . . Exhausting . . . Rewarding. The 1978 debate squad would agree that debate is all of these and more.

DEBATE is defined as "organized argumentation," but the debaters know the definition does not begin to describe the activity.

The debate season is seven months long, beginning in October and ending in April. The work, however begins long before the actual competition begins.

Debaters attend summer workshops to begin their preparation for the upcoming season. Additional research and analysis begin the first day of class in August.

Beginning in October, students compete as often as two or three weekends a month at tournaments in Illinois and Missouri. While competing and preparing for the tournaments, students become extremely knowledgeable in the area specified. This year the topic was "energy."

After a tournament, a debater realizes that no matter how much research he has done, he must still continue. The work is never ending.

But eventually the debater will find that the hours of laborious study and self-discipline have paid off. The hours have earned the debater recognition and awards, and have also increased his ability to reason, analyze and organize.

The band provides enthusiasm, spirit and support for all school functions. The musicians perform at pep rallies, sports events and graduation. In essence, the band supports all school sports and students.

"I can be creative, the kids can be creative and can learn how to express themselves musically," said Terry Watler, telling why he enjoys being band director.

The members learn different styles of music, including jazz and classical. They receive a total music education, while also learning discipline and responsibility.

When asked why she enjoyed being in Madrigals, Barb Muhlenbeck replied, "Because we get to go to places and perform, also we are a very close group."

Each semester the group has a money-making project to help pay their way to local concerts and performances. They sold candy bars and used the money to see the musical "The Messiah."

In November the group performed at the open house. They also gave performances at the Christmas Concert and the Spring Concert. They also went caroling during Christmas with the St. Louis Caroling Association.

Girls Glee Club and Contando sold candy bars, bought T-shirts that had the name of their group on them and went to see THE WIZ. this year. These two groups also perform at the Christmas and Spring Concerts.

I GOT THE MUSIC IN ME

Adding to the variety of plays presented at South this year, the winter play, TEN LITTLE INDIANS, by Agatha Christie, proved shocking and suspenseful.

The theme of the play was involved with showing the evils produced from self righteousness.

The core story of the play revolved around a series of murders. Each murder, as it was committed was marked by a passage from the nursery rhyme, "Ten Little Indians."

Adding to the suspense, Richard King, speech teacher and director of the play, decided to do things differently this year. He kept the identity of the murderer a secret from the cast until the night of opening performance. "It can be easily done with the way the script is, and doing it this way keeps the element of mystery alive in the cast as well as the audience," stated Mr. King.

Preparation for the play began with open tryouts for any students with interests to participate. The only exceptions were students who had had a major role in the homecoming play.

Dedication, time, and concentrated effort was demanded from students involved. Rehearsal for the performance involved staying after school for six weeks and occasional weekends for the technician and performance crews.

Why, with the variety of plays available, was this one chosen? Various factors were involved which include, Mr. King's personal choice and the type of play he wanted to direct. More importantly, the play was selected to coordinate with the quality of students there were to deal with, and the type of play that would suit them.

"This year I had three strong girls to work with, which was good for this play," replied Mr. King.

Also, a main objective considered when deciding on school plays is to keep as varied a program as possible; thus choosing diverse styles of dramatic writing approaches for each play.

"For as long as I've been here, we have kept this idea alive. The only type of shows I can say we have not had, have been restoration comedy and Greek tragedy," said Mr. King.

So, the tradition of plays was kept alive this year with the performance from a solid cast to represent the winter play of "78".

Directed by Ronald Pennell, the 1978-79 faculty play was Thornton Wilder's Our Town. The story occurs in the little community of Grover's Corner, New Hampshire, and focuses on the lives of the Gibbs and Webb families.

Their story is introduced by the stage manager and is supplemented throughout by the extended remarks of this unique figure.

The play leaves much to the imagination of the audience because there is no curtain; very little scenery, and only a few chairs and tables.

Our Town was the first serious play performed by South's faculty. The major characters, Emily Webb and George Gibbs, were portrayed by Beverley Scroggins and John Brooks.

Emily's family was played by Carroll Chamness and Muriel Kratz; and Dr. and Mrs. Gibbs were played by Ben Schutzenhoffer and Sheryl Evnas. The actor-narrator was Ronald Pennell.

Others in the cast included Dennis Church, Virginia Foster, Warren Jones, and Gary Wilbur.

SHAKE, RATTLE AND ROLL

Who are the girls at the football games with smiles on their faces twirling red and white pom poms? They're South's first very own pom pon squad.

The 29 girls on the squad were chosen from 130 hopeful contenders. The squad consists of one captain, Bonnie Luebbert, and two co-captains, Loretta Heagy and Diane Biason.

"I like being out in the middle of the football field representing our school," says Loretta Heagy. Diane Biason also enjoys her work. "I like meeting the people and performing as a pom pon girl," she says.

All of the girls enjoy being part of the first squad and practice continuously to be the best. During the summer the girls worked for at least two hours a day trying new routines and getting it all together.

We've definitely got it all together now," comments Anna Stambaugh.

Cheering at games, pep rallies, and being devoted are a few of the many responsibilities of a cheerleader. The largest responsibility, however, is cheering the team to state.

Looking back on the year Barb Muhlenbeck stated, "As captain, I feel we worked harder than ever before and the girls took every minute they had and put it into soccer."

The well organized junior varsity squad, lead by Chris Jenkins, showed its pep and vitality throughout the entire year also. These girls are chosen yearly, rather than by season. Varsity cheerleaders are chosen by seasons.

The freshman/sophomore squad had even a bigger task. This year they had to coordinate a larger than usual squad, consisting of ten girls.

These girls, with the help of a new sponsor Peggy Cunningham, cheered their teams on to victory.

The 1978-79 cheerleading season was off to a shaky start because the girls did not have the aid of a sponsor. Finally, Peggy Cunningham, a teacher at Marshall Elementary School, volunteered to take on the responsibility.

Mrs. Cunningham felt that a cheerleader should meet certain standards. "I think a cheerleader should have a good amount of school spirit and enthusiasm," she said. "They should also have good co-ordination, be able to follow a routine, and have a good clear voice."

Mrs. Cunningham is expected to be at all the practices and the games. This means giving up much of her spare time to attend the activities.

When asked how she felt about her new duties, she replied, "It was a lot of fun helping the girls. I have enjoyed it very much."

This year the female athletes were represented by a new club, S.L.A.C., South Leader Athletic Club, sponsored by Charlotte Charbonnier.

S.L.A.C. is considered to be a girls letter club at South. The girls meet every Tuesday before school.

They plan a trip to the Ozarks at the end of the year. To raise enough money for the event, they had bake sales, sold hats and buttons, and went Christmas caroling.

Sandy Schreiber commented, "S.L.A.C. gives the girls a chance to do the things they want to do."

Officers of the club include: Christy Bauer, president; Laura Gabriel, vice-president; Sandy Schreiber, secretary; and Liz Gac, treasurer.

SPRIT IN THE SKY

Red Pepper members have always been responsible for initiating much school spirit. They encourage the athletes and continually enhance the crowd at athletic events such as soccer, football, basketball, wrestling, and hockey.

Many members chose secret pals again this year because of the popularity during last year's sports. The athletes receive cakes, candy, and cards, and the hallways are always full of posters and signs leading to many Warrior victories. To show appreciation, a number of athletes gave the girls a flower or corsage.

Many Pep Rallies are held in order to encourage the team to an important victory.

Color Days are very important also. By displaying the school colors, red and black, our Warriors know the fans are behind them one hundred percent.

To be considered an active member, the girl must obtain a total of one hundred points. While attending a sports event, the members must sign up in order to receive credit.

Selling gimmicks and painting signs are also ways of obtaining points. President of Red Peppers, Kathy Longos, and the 12 board members, do much to inspire enthusiasm and school spirit among the members of the club.

1. Brian Ballard checks the names in his yearbook section for correct spelling. 2. Dan Gundlach makes sure his pictures fit properly. 3. Scott Buenger leisurely looks up the spelling of a word. 4. The 1979 yearbook sponsor, Cynthia Hornell, has been a big help to the new sponsor, DeeMana Spudich. 5. Jack Burnett cannot figure out what to do next since he has completed all his work. 6. Karen Koch loves her work in yearbook. 7. A familiar sight is Debby Kelly and many corrected pages.

Taking pictures, printing pictures, drawing layouts and writing copy are just a sample of what the yearbook staff does to put a good book together. With the help of a new sponsor, DeeMana Spudich, the staff of 12 students managed to meet all their deadlines and get everything turned in to the publisher on time.

"Bigger and better pictures and a larger book are just a few of the yearbook's changes," says Becky Corzilius, editor.

Six members of the staff went to a yearbook camp this summer at the University of Wisconsin in Whitewater. They learned principles of journalism and got a few new ideas.

Attending were Becky Corzilius, Anita Busch, Sandy Forte, Gina Gibson, Jack Burnett, Scott Buenger, Cynthia Hormell, 1978 sponsor, and DeeMana Spudich.

To raise money this year, the staff held the first disco dance at South, which was very successful. It was co-sponsored by the Photo Club.
